

Dan Sickles Civil War Roundtable

Presents:

A Thousand May Fall:* Life, Death, and Survival in an Ethnic Regiment

A Virtual Program via Zoom

Sunday, November 14, 2021 ♦ 7:00 pm

with

Brian M. Jordan

Historian, Author and Educator

How did ordinary soldiers navigate the extremes of war?

How did they make sense of their service and sacrifices?

These are the questions at the heart of Brian Matthew Jordan's A Thousand May Fall, an intimate chronicle of the Civil War from the common soldier's perspective.

At the heart of the tale is the 107th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, an ethnically German regiment caught in the crosshairs of Jackson's flank attack at Chancellorsville and decimated again two months later atop Blocher's Knoll at Gettysburg.

www.DanSicklesCWRT.com