A Virtual Program via Zoom

with

Dr. Jennifer M. Murray

Military Historian, Educator and Author

Once prominently defined as the “Hero of Gettysburg,” General George G. Meade is now commonly obscured by generals deeply embedded into the Civil War narrative: Grant, Sherman, and Sheridan - or, if you wish, Lee and Jackson.

Meade commanded the Army of the Potomac, the North’s principle instrument of war, longer than anyone, and assumed a prominent role in the course of the Civil War. Dr. Murray will help us explore Meade’s role and influence in the Civil War from command of a brigade in the PA Reserves to commanding general of the Army of the Potomac.
